

Join a community of writers committed to penning the Good News and the testimony of the saints to encourage women and their children to believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, so that they may have life in His name. (John 20: 31).

Be-Held Writers create using a prayerful and collaborative approach during our quarterly writing sessions:

- ★ We pray for the Lord's strength, wisdom, and creativity to tell His story, and the story of His work, in and through the lives of His children, with power and love. We cover each other, and the community we serve, and will serve.
- ★ We engage in a peer collaboration process to support an interdependent approach to Scriptural interpretation. At the end of each session, insights to inform the final pieces for each quarter are gathered and each writer is assigned responsibility for honing one piece. Final works are submitted by the deadline and enter the editorial process to be shared with our subscribers and wider audience.

Be-Held Writers benefit from in-house opportunities to hone their craft during semi-annual (falling on two of the dates already scheduled for quarterly writing sessions) writing workshops:

- ★ In the Fall, we learn how to generate writing from our private devotional and study practices.
- ★ In the Spring, Be-Held Writers (or guest writers) may share their skills in-house to support the entire community in growing in its capacity to write in a way that aids women in seeking, living, and being transformed-spirit, soul, and body-by the truth of God's Word, i.e. creatively and skillfully execute the core requirements for Be-Held House's current publications.
